

Life with Mucha

In Paris at the end of the 19th century, prosperity spread alongside industrial development. As people grew wealthier, they began to find joy in incorporating beauty into their everyday lives. The world of Mucha, expressed through soft, gentle colors and delicate lines, awakens the desire not just to admire it from afar, but to place it within arm's reach and enjoy it up close. This exhibition focuses on the most familiar of spaces: the home. It explores how Mucha's works enriched ordinary home life and transformed daily moments into something special. Enjoy discovering the beauty of Mucha as it lives and breathes in everyday life.

Dates: April 4th (Sat) ~ July 26th (Sun)

Alphonse Mucha, Rodo Perfume (Lance), 1896,
Lithograph on paper
Collection of the Sakai Alphonse Mucha Museum

Alphonse Mucha, Chocolat Idéal, 1897,
Lithograph on paper
Ogata Collection